

Then Another Point To Make

Then another point to make is sticking to naturopathy and holistics forever which involves listening to sounds but not musics because of how corrupted the music industry is and the artists of that industry have serious conflictions in ther heads that put me at odds with me. This includes using naturally occurring crystal geodes, certain types of metalugric compounds and natural health products that are expensive but worth the effort in purchasing and using for them for the betterment of our evolution which is physical, mental and spiritual. Then another thing to use in combination with that amongst everything else sexual stimulation on a individual level and as a couple with people amongst our soul amongst our soul groups where have to physical distance ourselves from each other because will be identified by the authorities and society at large as a gang because planet earth and it's populations are literally hard pressed to destroy things they don't like that operate as a collective especially if it works against there interests. So we have to enforce the individuality standard where were not allowed to have friends outside of our soul group and associated soul groups because based on the way society orders itself any form of collectivism is seen as a gang even if it's purely benevolent, highly ethical, non intrusive and non interfering.

We will all be loners until we on and leave our bodies and depart for vahalla where I will never return to this planet again and the whole soul group across the planet.
